 Document 2: JP, 56-49378, A
 Document 3: Tetrahedron Lett., 1975, 38, pages 3251-4
 Document 4: JP, 6-100487, A
 Document 5: JP, 11-152243, A
 Document 6: JP, 1-265051, A

Explanation

The subject matters of claims 1-16 appear to be novel, since they are not described in documents 1-6 cited in the ISR.

However, documents 1 and 2 respectively describe a carbostyryl derivative production process identical with the subject matter of claim 1 except that a catalyst different from a phase-transfer catalyst is used. Furthermore, as described in documents 3-6, it is publicly known to produce an ether by letting an alkyl halide and a hydroxy group-containing compound react with each other in the presence of a phase-transfer catalyst. So, the subject matters of claims 1-16 do not appear to involve an inventive step, since a person skilled in the art could have easily arrived at the subject matters.
